Las Vegas @ San Francisco 11/08 01:11 PM

The Raiders' last six games have all gone over the total. During that stretch, Las Vegas' opponents have scored an average of 33.8 points per game

Green Bay @ New England 11/08 01:11 PM

We've got a battle of conflicting trends in this one. Green Bay has covered the closing spread in five-straight games with all five of those games staying under the total. Meanwhile, the Patriots' last five games have all gone over the total.

Arizona @ Seattle 11/08 01:11 PM

Seattle has gone 10-0 straight-up, 9-1 against the spread over the last ten meetings in this NFC West matchup. The Seahawks have won each of their last four home games against the Cardinals by double digits.

Houston @ LA Chargers 11/08 01:11 PM

The Chargers' numbing slump now counts 10 straight-up losses in a row (0-9-1 vs. line in those games) since late in the 2025 campaign. The Bolts are also on an 11-1-1 run to the under since late last season.

Dallas @ Indianapolis 11/08 10:11 AM

Since 2000, Dallas had been 69-0 when leading by 14+ points in the fourth quarter, but that run came to a close against the Cardinals last week.

Detroit @ Miami 11/08 10:11 AM

Miami has covered the spread in three of the last four games, and the lone loss came on a mixed extra point with 45 seconds left against the Bengals.

Cleveland @ New Orleans 11/08 10:11 AM

New Orleans has been held scoreless in the first quarter in six of seven games this season. The Saints are 1-6 against the spread in both the first quarter and first half. Per NFL betting analyst Evan Abrams, the Saints are 1-20-3 on the first quarter moneyline and 3-21 against the first quarter spread since the beginning of last season.

Denver @ Carolina 11/08 10:11 AM

Since losing to Kansas City in the opener, Denver has gone 6-1 straight-up and against the spread.

Cincinnati @ Atlanta 11/08 06:11 AM

Note the Falcons had gone "over" in five straight games (assuming one bet the 49ers game before a late move over 49 points) since QB Michael Penix returned to active duty, and before last Sunday's loss at Tampa Bay that was played in a deluge. The Bengals enter this week at Madrid "over" in their last three as well.
