NCAAF Week 11 Weather Update

A Nor'Easter is likely heading across the country this week, and while only one game (Pitt vs Florida State on Friday) looks to be in the direct path of the storm, several games on Saturday are likely going to experience lingering sustained winds with moderate gusts that would potentially affect the passing game and special teams. Per sports meteorologist Kevin Roth, the following games are projected to see sustained winds around 15-20 miles per hour with gusts 25-30 miles per hour:

Friday
#119 Florida State at #120 Pitt

Saturday
#129 James Madison at #130 UConn
#135 Wisconsin at #136 Maryland
#149 East Carolina at #150 Charlotte
#159 Syracuse at #160 NC State
#191 Cal at #192 Virginia
#203 Stanford at #204 Virginia Tech
#213 Middle Tennessee at #214 Liberty

...A couple more (UAB at Temple, Florida Int'l at Delaware and Nebraska at Rutgers) are right on the cusp.

#101 Kent State at #102 Bowling Green

Kent State earned a 24-21 win over the Falcons last season as a 7.5-point home 'dog, despite getting out-gained by nearly 100 yards. Bowling Green built a 21-3 lead midway through the third quarter but the Flashes ended that game on a 21-0 run to steal the victory. Kent State had an extra day to prep for this one after falling at Sacramento State last Friday as a 7.5-point road favorite. No one really knew how the "traditional" MAC schools would handle cross-country travel to the Golden State in the middle of the season, and early returns from both Kent State and Toledo (nearly lost as a 25.5-point favorite) haven't been good. Prior to that quirky trip west, the Flashes beat Akron 35-20 at home. Bowling Green returns home after dropping back-to-back road games at Buffalo and Western Michigan. The Falcons' low-scoring 23-10 loss at WMU broke a string of four-straight "over" results in Bowling Green's games. QB Jay Kastantin is reportedly battling an injury, and he's thrown a total of six interceptions in Bowling Green's last four games. We have some interest in the under in this matchup as the Falcons are likely going to rely on their defense in this contest. Kent State has scored an average of 15.0 points per game over the last six weeks.

Recommendation: Under 44.5

#103 Western Michigan at #104 Akron

Western Michigan has won six of the last seven meetings, but these MAC foes have only played one time in the last four seasons - A 34-24 Broncos home win in 2024. Western Michigan had some extra time to prep for this one after beating Bowling Green on Halloween. The Broncos have gotten off to a strong 4-1 start in conference play, but WMU is just 1-6 against the spread over its last seven contests. Akron played quite well and probably deserved a better fate in last Tuesday's 28-20 home loss to Ohio. Akron out-gained Ohio and held a 26-12 advantage in first downs, but couldn't overcome a costly pick-six at the end of the first quarter to put the Zips in an early hole. Akron is still searching for its first win over an FBS-level opponent this season. We understand why there is market sentiment in Akron's favor, but we make this game closer to -17 and we're inclined to lay the points with Western Michigan coming off the bye. The Zips couldn't stay within two touchdowns against Central Michigan, Miami (Oh) or Kent State. Akron's defense has allowed 5.82 yards per rushing attempt, which is the third-worst mark in the country. Western Michigan is producing 165.2 rushing yards per game this season.

Recommendation: Western Michigan -14

#105 Ohio at #106 Miami (Oh)

Ohio has won-and-covered each of the last two meetings, including a 24-20 home win last season. Miami's three-game winning streak was snapped with a 34-31 home loss to Buffalo. Four of the RedHawks' last five games have gone over the total. Ohio is probably fortunate to still have its six-game winning streak intact because the Bobcats were largely out-played as a double-digit favorite against Akron last week. Ohio's offense didn't find the end zone until midway through the third quarter. The Bobcats' entire offense essentially consisted of three plays: A 45-yard interception return for a touchdown, a 60-yard touchdown pass and a 91-yard touchdown run. Ohio's other seven drives produced a total of 179 yards and six of them went scoreless. We're willing to chalk most of that up to the look-ahead spot for this week. Ohio was a two-touchdown favorite last week and you could tell from the opening whistle that the Bobcats weren't giving the Zips much respect. Things should look a bit different in this one. Miami is 1-4 against the spread over the last five games. Only beating UMass by one when the Minutemen were using a back-up QB didn't age very well. Miami needed a game-winning TD with 1:41 left to beat Central Michigan. Miami kicked the game-winning field goal against UConn with three minutes remaining. The RedHawks have been playing with fire recently.

Recommendation: Ohio -1.5
